Kentucky May Lose Contonment Unless State Furnishes the Labor.

Special To Herald.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 4. Kentucky will lose the $13,600,000 artillery cantonment and firing school holding fifty five thousand men unless Kentucky furnishes necessary labor. This telegram has just been received from director general at Washington. Please notify through columns of your paper the citizens of your community in order that they may be aware of serious situation that confronts the state. There is not a man who reads this article that would not risk his own life to protect one of our soldiers. It is our patriotic duty to apply to the county chairman of the public service reserve or the nearest employment agency of the U. S. employment service for work at camp Knox in order that we may be able to protect the lives of the boys of your community and other communities of the state during the winter months. If these boys do not have the proper housing conditions we Kentuckians will be to blame.

Laborers and carpenters are most needed. Laborers are paid thirty-five cents per hour and receive eleven hours pay for ten hours work. Carpenters are paid sixty cents per hour and receive eleven hours pay for ten hours work. Laborers are paid time and half for work done on Saturday afternoon and Sunday and carpenters double time. They are not compelled to work these hours. Transportation free to laborers. Carpenters transportation furnished and deducted later on from their pay. Free lodging and good beds. Good meals at thirty cents each. This is the kind of treatment and pay received for your patriotism as a volunteer in the army at home which has pledged itself to house and maintain the boys who are sacrificing their lives to protect all that we hold dear and dear. We want our boys in our own home camp as long as possible. Do not let us lose this cantonment.

FRATT DALE,
Federal Director.

VICTORY GAINED IN SMASHING HINDENBURG LINE.

The long, bitter battle is still raging but it has turned so definitely in favor of the British that it scarcely even now premature to hail it as a great victory.

To the north of the sector where the chief tactical gain of yesterday was scored (in the region north of St. Quentin) there was continuous and desperate fighting. Again and again the reserves of enemy storming troops were flung into the counter attack and the battle swayed with incredible fury. Amid all this surging, however, our troops were gradually shouldering forward.

This morning the situation was shining and everybody, even the tired troops who went through the heavy grueling of yesterday, were cheerful.

The fighting was resumed during the morning, with the enemy opposition increasing as re-enforcements appeared in the line.

Between Cambrai and St. Quentin the German line of defense has been broken. It is uncertain what lines the enemy has in the rear. The British advance threatens the German line of retreat in the Oise valley and also from the Massif of St. Gobain.

Between the Alsne and the Vesle rivers French troops in the last three days have advanced on a front of ten miles to a depth of three to four miles. The Germans now are retreating toward the line they held in 1917.

In view of the loss to the Germans of St. Quentin and the lines to the north of that city an enemy retirement on a fairly large scale seems probable. Given good weather some very big changes on the western front may be seen before winter.

The towns of Menin and Roulers, railway junctions in Flanders, have been set on fire by the Germans in fear of the advancing Belgians, British and French troops. French guns now control the railway line running from Ostend, through Throuthout and Roulers to Courtrai.

British monitors are co-operating actively in bombarding the German lines on and near the coast.

The British Second Army, co-operating with the Belgians in the Flanders campaign, continued today to press forward. In the process of encircling Armentieres it took the hamlet of Le Biset, close to Armentieres on the north.

MEETING AT FORDSVILLE BEGINS OCTOBER 10.

A good old-fashioned soul-stirring revival will be held at Fordsville Christian church, beginning Saturday, October, 19th, and continuing about two weeks. The meeting will be led by J. V. Coombs, whose picture appeared in this paper last week, assisted by the pastor, Walter Greep. Mr. Coombs is well-known throughout the United States as a lecturer and writer, being the author of ten widely circulated books. He is a great evangelist and those in attendance may expect a treat at every service, as his sermons are powerful, logical and kind to all faiths. Mr. Coombs will deliver some of his famous lectures during this meeting. Patriotic subjects will be discussed and it is intended that a spirit of genuine fellowship, good will and patriotic devotion will result from these services.

CHILDREN ENROLLED IN COAL PRODUCTION.

Greensburg, Pa.,—Sixty thousand and Westmoreland county school children are to be enrolled in the coal production campaign. Every boy and girl in the public and parochial schools of the district were today urged by teachers to use their influence to keep every miner at work six days each week and to appeal to their fathers, brothers and friends to produce a greater coal tonnage.

Sixteen hundred public school teachers today received a request from Robert C. Shaw, county superintendent, asking them to urge the cause of coal production in the schools. Similar letters went to parochial school teachers from Father Gilbert. In every school in the county an appeal from James S. Arend, district production manager, was read to the children. Each child was asked to take home the appeal for increased production and tomorrow will be asked the result of his appeal. Then will come daily production talks by the teachers.

HELPING THE LIBERTY LOAN.

Active co-operation with the Liberty Loan Committee was volunteered yesterday by the organizations which are aligned in the United War Work Campaign, which will go to the American people in November for $170,500,000, the largest single gift ever sought in an appeal to the generosity of a nation. As a result of united action the suggestion of Thomas A. Edison will be followed until the end of the loan campaign and his slogan, "Yours for the Fourth Liberty Loan," will be used at least 20,000 times a day.

The co-operation was suggested by William J. Mulligan, chairman of the Knights of Columbus Committee on War Activities, and seconded by Dr. John R. Mott, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. War Council. The Y. M. C. A. alone sends out more than 10,000 pieces of first class mail every day. Following the lead of Mr. Mulligan and Dr. Mott, unanimous action was assured by promises of co-operation from the Y. M. C. A., The War Camp Community Service, Jewish Welfare Board, American Liberty Association and Salvation Army.

The post-office department estimates that "Yours for the Fourth Liberty Loan" will be used 40,000,000 times every twenty-four hours if Mr. Edison's suggestion is generally followed.

J. W. THOMAS, DEAD.

Mr. J. W. Thomas, of Dundee, died in Indianapolis, Indiana, of tuberculosis. His wife was in Owensboro when she received the news of his death. Mr. Thomas had been afflicted with tuberculosis for some time and had gone to Indianapolis for treatment. He was about 60 years of age and was reared in Ohio County. He was married to Miss Sallie Reafrow, daughter of Virgil Reafrow, of Dundee; she and a daughter survive. His body was brought home for burial.

 5. Avoid the breath or expelled secretions from people suffering from colds.
 6. Wash out the nose and throat two or three times daily by a nasal spray or douche and by a gargle with a "normal salt solution" (1/2 teaspoonful salt to one glass (8 ounces) clean water).
 7. All those in attendance on patients with influenza should wear masks such as are provided by the Red Cross Nursing Bureau.
 8. Clothing should be warm and dry. Food simple and easily digested. Drink water freely.

DIES IN CAMP.

Fred Tanner, an Ohio County selective, died at Ft. Niagara, N. Y., Saturday at 10 o'clock. Mr. Tanner was about 26 years of age and left several months ago in the draft.

He spent some time at Camp Taylor and was sent to New York, probably for embarkation, when he contracted pneumonia, which caused his death. He was a son of T. S. Tanner, of near town. His body will be brought home for burial.

DEATH OF REV.

SAMUEL M. MILLER.

Rev. Sam M. Miller, well-known Methodist minister, pastor of Settle Memorial church, died at his home in Owensboro, Monday evening at 5 o'clock, of Spanish influenza. He contracted this malady while at conference at Madisonville. Private services were held at his home Tuesday evening at 2:30 in charge of Dr. A. P. Lyons, of Russellville. They left by way of Louisville Tuesday for Campbellsville, Ky., where interment will be held today. Dr. Miller was secretary of the Louisville Conference and has been for a number of years. He was one of the best known ministers in this section of the state.

IF YOUR PAPER IS STOPPED After November 1, 1918, THE REASON IS FOUND BELOW

WE HAVE notified our reader time and time again that unless all subscriptions are paid up by November 1, 1918, papers will be stopped immediately. This is not published in an attempt to scare any of our readers, but it is the orders of the Government, and we are compelled to obey them. No paper will be sent to ANY ONE who is more than three months in arrears. The Government demands this, so we must obey. So, if your paper is stopped, after above date, you will know the reason why. If you want The Herald your subscription must be paid in advance. If you do not care to take it longer, remit for what you owe, and the paper will be stopped.

The Government Says So— It Must Be That Way.

TO OHIO COUNTY PATRIOTS:

Owing to the ruling of the State Health Board, all public gatherings are suspended until the present epidemic of influenza has abated.

This may prove very unfortunate for some sections, but to the good people of Ohio County, whose patriotism has long since been stirred to the core and whose love for our boys far outweighs their love for money, this epidemic bringing suffering and death into our very midst, reminds them the more forcefully of the intense suffering now being undergone in the training camps and in the trenches, and no man or woman in this good Country will ever be accused of slacking in such a patriotic duty as furnishing medicine, nurses, food, clothing, shelter and equipment to our boys upon the verge of winter, while we are in our warm, comfortable homes, safe and in plenty. "God forbid."

You are going to over subscribe their quota; you are going "Over the Top," with gladness and enthusiasm. Now what I ask of each of you is to immediately call your precinct Chairman and have him fill up a subscription blank for your apportionment and send it to you and you sign and send it to him at once, or better still, get into your conveyance and go and give him your subscription.

Please do this at once and let your boys know that we are solidly behind them and that it takes no eloquence or drum beats to stir us to duty, but only the Heart Beats, of the true and faithful mothers and the loving sisters and sweethearts of our great Country.

I appeal to you, not to subscribe, for you intend to do that, but do it now.

JNO. H. BARNES Chairman, Ohio County Liberty Loan Organization.

GAINS EXPERIENCE.

In a letter to his brothers at Narrows, Mr. J. S. Loyal writes as follows from France:

Dear Brothers: I have just written you but as it takes mail so long to cross I will write a few lines again. Things look good now compared to a few months ago as I imagine you know already. Most of the boys expect to get back soon but I have never shortened the time. I expected to be over here but I don't think the fight will last any great time. I am still pleased with our war service and think it a good thing to get a little experience out of this war. Let me hear from you often.

MULTIPLICITY OF SUCKLINGS.

Here is one for which Howard Ellis is patent. We tell the tale as 'twas told to us. A few weeks ago Mr. Ellis' cow gave birth to splendid twin calves. These were robust youngsters and were allowed the freedom of the lot with the bovine mother. In the same lot also ranged a pig, weighing about eighty pounds, also a robust specimen of the swine family. Mr. Ellis was in the habit of giving the calves the first choice of the mother's milk, but was somewhat surprised one early morning last week, when he went out to milk and found the two calves and the pig alike partaking of the life giving fluid. Mr. Ellis states that the pig was sitting back on his haunches, punctuating his sips of milk with grunts of contentment. The mother cow was munching her fodder with as much satisfaction as if all her sucklings were calves, and her own calves at that.

RED CROSS ITEMS.

The local Red Cross Chapter shipped over 400 pounds of refugee garments to the Belgian Relief Commission last week. They will make another shipment this week. They also shipped a number of hospital shirts and other garments. They wish to thank the auxiliary chapters out in the county for their contribution.

The Red Cross received a contribution of $5 last week from Mrs. E. C. C. also $17.50 from the Star Theatre. Messrs. Heaven and Barrass, proprietors of the theatre, gave a special picture last Tuesday, giving all above expenses to the Red Cross. The price was reduced to ten cents, and notwithstanding this only 179 people were present, so the whole amount was given to the Red Cross and the managers bore all the expenses. We are not criticizing, but we think this poor patronage was not fair to the management of the theatre who were contributing to so worthy a cause.

BEAUTIFUL TRIBUTE TO ELDER WRIGHT.

The following article, written by Victor W. Dorris, the well-known evangelist, concerning Elder W. B. Wright, appeared in one of America's greatest religious journals. Elder Wright was for sometime pastor of the Christian church here. He died last May. He was the father of Mrs. C. E. Smith, wife of our Commonwealth's attorney. The article reads as follows:

W. B. Wright was born in Middle Tennessee on March 29, 1851, and died May 21, 1918, in Sebree, Ky. He was buried in Princeton, Ky., beside his first wife, Bro. Wright was married Sept. 20, 1889, to Susan Dallas Holt, of Cooperstown, Tenn. To this union nine children were born, four of whom survive—Mrs. Enlah Fortney, of Central City, Ky.; Frank G. Wright, of Madisonville, Ky.; Mrs. C. W. Evans, of Moberly, Mo.; and Mrs. C. E. Smith, of Hartford, Ky. The mother of these children died in 1895, and in 1907 Bro. Wright was married to Nannie Richards, of Gordonsville, Ky. Mrs. Clyde Martin, of Detroit, Mich., and W. B. Jr., of Sebree, Ky., are the children of this union. Bro. Wright had but recently moved from Dawson Springs, Ky., to Sebree, where he was to minister for the brethren. His sudden and violent illness prevented his appearing in the pulpit after his residence there.

He began to preach more than forty years ago, laboring principally in Tennessee, Kentucky and Indiana. He also did much successful evangelistic work. He leaves a rich and sacred heritage to his wife and children. The church can ill afford to spare such a he, who neither thought nor prayed nor preached in doubt, but in the full assurance of a real faith in the real Christ.

TWO ARMY REASONS FOR SUPPORTING LIBERTY LOAN.

Grantland Rice, noted Sporting Writer, Relates two Dramatic Incidents of Firing Line.

Lieutenant Grantland Rice, with the American Expeditionary Force in France, sporting writer of national reputation, poet of the James Whitcomb Riley stamp and American fighting man, sends to the Liberty Loan Committee of the Second Federal Reserve District, two humanly vital reasons why the "Home Forces" should lay down a barrage of Liberty Bonds that will keep the Hun gong Berlinward. Mr. Rice, who has been from the Somme to Alsace along various parts of the front since he went across several months ago writes:

"The Sergeant sat at the edge of a thickets just this side of the River Vesle.

"His dejection was so complete that he failed to pay any attention to a scattering drift of German shells, still dropping here and there through the woods.

"If they had only cussed or raised hell," he said, "it wouldn't have been so bad. I wouldn't have minded it so much."

"Wouldn't have minded what so much?" we asked.

"It was this way," he continued. "Our bunch had been whipping out machine gun nests and chasing Germans for six days. They were nailing us here and there, but the bunch still went forward. In fact, they went forward so fast that the field kitchens couldn't keep up.

"For six days they had practically nothing to eat and less than little to drink. But they kept going. Lilling and chasing Germans with the bayonet. We tried to catch up, but we never could.

"When we finally did we expected to hear'em raising hell because they hadn't been fed. But there wasn't a kick, not a word of complaint. 'Never mind, Bill,' they said; 'it's all a part of the game. You couldn't help it.'

"Think of it! Six days with rifle and layonet into machine guns and shell fire without food or water and yet not a kick! If they had only cussed or raised some hell I wouldn't have cared so much."

"This is just one sample of how the A. E. F. tackled the job in France of what it has been up against.

"The folk back home had no doubt that the men at the front would make good for them. The men at the front haven't any doubt that the folk back home will make good for them also.

"If one delegation can storm machine gun nests for six days without food and water in the midst of death, destruction and destruction without a complaint the others are pretty sure to raise $5,000,000,000 or twice $5,000,000,000, so quickly there'll be no further debate as to how strong the country stands back of the fighting machine. It has sent 3,500 miles from home to suffer and die for the greatest ideal the world has ever known."

Here is the second reason:

"I saw him lying by the roadside, in the wake of the American advance just beyond Peres-en-Tardenois.

"He was lying face downward, then rim of his steel helmet buried in the mud. A heavy rain was still falling, but it had not yet completely erased the writing on a letter he had carried.

"The letter was from his mother. It expressed the wish and the hope that he was well and dry and safe; that he was happy and would soon be back; as they were thinking of nothing else but his return. 'Your daddy,' she wrote, 'is by the fire at night and refuses to talk of anything but you and of the day you'll be back with us again.'

"Well-and dry-and safe with the rain beating on him, face downward in the mud and a bullet hole through the top of his steel helmet. But he had fallen toward Germany.

"He was only one of the many who had made the great sacrifice. His father and mother were only a small part of the many who had made the greatest sacrifice.

"The question left is a simple one. How many of these have died and are going to die in vain because the people back home couldn't raise the money to crush the military power that made such things possible."

Buy Liberty Bonds—Help win war.

Forward!

With no thought of bursting shrapnel and poisonous gases into which they plunge--with every muscle tense, with every faculty of mind alert, with one thought only--TO FIGHT AND WIN.

That is the way our men are going into battle. When the shrill whistle sounds the advance, out they go--their whole heart in the task before them. No power on earth can hold them back.

Forward!

The same sharp challenge to battle is sounding for us. We must answer in the same proud way--the way of our fighting men--the American way. We must lend the way they fight.

We must show the war-maddened Hun a united American people moving forward shoulder to shoulder, irresistibly, to Victory.

Our task is to supply the money, the ships, the guns, the shells that we must have to win. It is a tremendous task. We must do our part as our fighting men do theirs--with the indomitable spirit of Victory.

We must work, and save, and lend with one thought only--TO FIGHT AND WIN.

SAUCE FOR THE GOOSE SHOULD BE SAUCE FOR THE GANDER.

The Republican press and their senatorial candidate complain that the Democrats are urging the election of Governor Stanley as the surest means to aid President Wilson in the prosecution of the war and endeavor to controvert the very palpable fact. They forget, if they ever knew, that such argument was used and with winning result by Col. Roosevelt in 1898, when he was the Republican nominee for Governor of New York. Speaking with reference to the almost insignificant war with Spain, he said in his speeches, "A refusal to sustain the President this year will in the eyes of the nations of Europe, be read as a refusal to sustain the war and to sustain the efforts of our peace commission to secure the fruit of the war." If such an argument was good then, it is of infinitely more importance now when the country is engaged in the greatest war the world has ever known. If the Colonel is as honest as he appears to be courageous, he is bound to say that the same reason exists now for the election of Governor Stanley and the entire Democratic delegation to Congress and to urge their election.

In the same year former President Benjamin Harrison, in pleading for the election of a Republican congress said that "the failure to do so would give Spain a gleam of hope, cause her to renew hostilities and more war would be necessary to secure what we have already won." If these distinguished of the Republican party were right, then, the Democrats are more so now in urging the election of their nominees and it comes with bad grace for the latter day seekers for office to deride or attempt to refute the argument. Democrats should keep it in mind that a vote for Governor Stanley and the other Democratic nominees means a vote of confidence in the war policies of the great man at Washington, who will be heartened in his arduous labors by the election of his party associates, who will always stand by him in every patriotic effort.

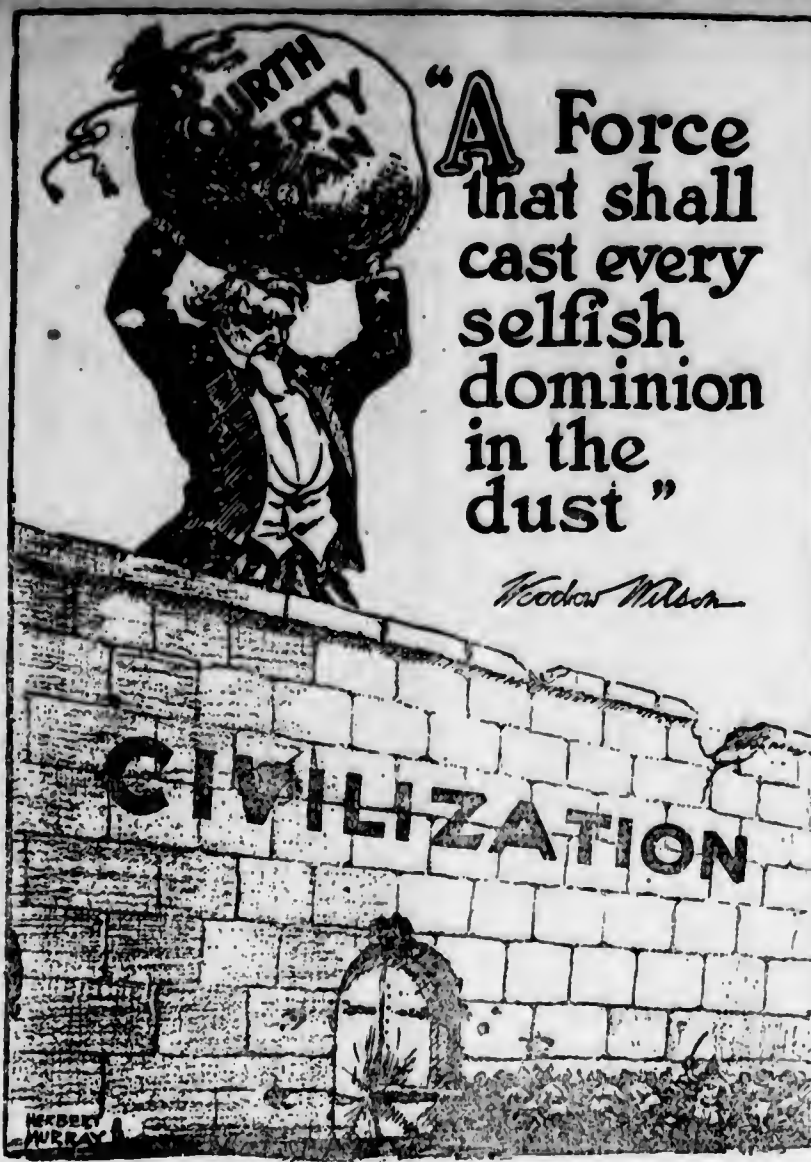

GIVING.

By Mary Carolyn Davies.

Just money! That is all we're asked to give.
He gave his life, Jim. He'd have liked to live
For Betty—bless her shy young heart—had only
The week before he left, put on his ring.
How long her life will be for her, how lonely
With nothing of him but remembering—
She never flinched, nor he, my son, they gave;
She working still, and Jimmie in his grave.
And now today we're asked again to save,
And give, give, give the country what we've earned
And toiled to earn. It's hard to all—and yet,
We safe, we calm, we fortunate, we living,
I wonder, dare we, dare we call this giving?

TO HIS MOTHER.

Mrs. A. J. Tucker,
Hartford, Ky., R. T.

Dear Mother:

I will try to write you a few lines. This leaves me well, hope it will find you all the same. Well Mama, we leave here today. I don't know where we will go to, but it is some where across the sea. Don't you worry about me for I will take care of myself and come back some old day. Well I was operated on the 29th but I feel very good now. Mama you tell Vera, I have had my life insured for ten thousand dollars, and made it to her. I want you and her both to have it, but I had to have it made to one, so you and Vera, can divide it if you get a chance but you won't get the chance for I am coming home, but if I don't get back you and her can have it.

Have you all heard from Charlie any more? Say you tell Ray, to sell old Dick, if he can get what he is worth, unless he wants to keep him to work. If he wants a better one sell him. Mama this is my identification number keep it, 2899-923, if any thing happens you will have to have this number. Well as for myself I don't care to go to France, but I hate to leave you all and my sweet baby, for God knows I love her and all the rest of you. Tell Whitaker to be a good boy and try and make a man out of himself. Tell Hettie, to be a good girl and to keep the best of company or none at all. Tell Mrs. Barr that I want her and Mr. Barr to pray for me while I am away. I will write you all just as soon as I can you write me just like you did and it will come on to me just the same. Well I can't write very much this time. Tell all good-bye for me and if I never get back I will try and meet you all in a better world, for I am trying to be a good boy. Don't you worry about me for there isn't any use, I will get back home some old day, so good-bye to you and all. May God be with us all until we meet again. Tell Sam and Pooding, good-bye for me. Give them all my best regards, and kiss my baby for me. Love to you all and may God bless you.

FROM LESLIE JONES.

The following letter was received by Mrs. E. R. Jones, of Fordsville, from her son, Leslie. Young Jones was recently wounded in France:
My Dear Mother:
I will try to write you a few lines this morning. I am feeling fine and hope all the folks at home are well and enjoying good health. How are all the people around Fordsville? I guess most of the boys are gone by this time. Does cousin Dad hear from Hubert very often, and is he still in the states or has he been sent to France? I would like to see all the people at home and guess it will not be very long before we will get to come back as I guess you have noticed in the papers what we have been giving the "Huns" for the last month. I wrote Uncle Willie a letter the other day, don't know whether Ray is still in the states or not. I have not heard anything about him.
I suppose Muse is still holding his position in Louisville isn't he? And is Dennis still on the road? I wrote him a letter the other day have not heard from him but once since I left and then only he wrote a note and put it in with one of your letters. Said he was expecting to get a raise in his salary. I hope father is having good health this spring; guess he is buying lots of produce and has to work hard. Tell him to take care of himself. I will close for this time, hoping to hear from you soon.

Your son,
Leslie.

The following telegram was received by County Sales Director, A. D. Kirk, from the General Director of Sales, W. L. Price, of Louisville, relative to Ohio County exceeding her quota. FROM A BOY IN THE NAVY.

Editor, Dear Sir:

Here is another Ohio County boy wishes to have a little space in your paper. I guess there are a few people in the sticks who have forgotten me by now. Well I used to read the Herald and it seems like a letter from home, and would love to subscribe for the paper if I could get my mail regular but it is hardly ever I get my mail correct for some cause. I have spent about six years in Harrisburg, Illinois, but came in once and a while on a visit, but never went any where much to let myself be recognized when I was in. I always think of old Kentucky where ever I am. Well, when I was in the last time to spend a visit in the old sod, I took a notion I would give my service to Uncle Sam. Now I am on the Battle Ship Missouri, and I'm this kind of life fine. Have me a few sea tips, but will be glad to get started across the big pond to help settle old Kaiser Bill, and I am glad to know that there are some of my old neighbor boys are over there doing their duty, and I hope I will soon get to be with them over in France, and do my part in putting old Billy on the run. For I know there will soon be enough true red blooded Americans over there to make a stampede over Germany, to smash the old Kaiser and his military machine down into the dust of the earth. I hope that it won't be long off. There has been a lot of people ask me since I have been in service what I was doing and how I like it. I can say I like it well and am enjoying the best of health. I have gained in weight up to one hundred and seventy-three pounds, and when I left three months ago, my weight was one hundred and forty-six pounds. My regular job is firing, but now as luck happen it has come my turn to be a cook. So I like it very well, but when a person is in the Navy he will learn all sorts of trades. The people in civilian life, would sure laugh if they could see all of what the sailors would have to do. But never mind, we get there just the same. Speaking of eating what we get to eat and wear, we get plenty such as beans, potatoes, cabbage, tomatoes, meats of all kinds, coffee for breakfast and dinner, and tea for supper, so nobody will starve on that, and we are allowed one hundred and five dollars worth of clothing, and all over that the sailors have to pay for themselves. Our sleeping quarters are in hammocks, which make a very comfortable bed, but a person has not to roll over too far in his sleep, for I know one person that did it and his hammock tipped over with him, so the next thing he knew he found himself getting up off the deck pretty badly bruised up. There was a big roaring laugh among the jacks, so no body could get mad at the accident that happened. Well, to change the subject back to those boys that are doing their duty over in France, like Boy McConeil and John Bender I hope that the sad report about those boys will finally prove to be a false report, for I long to see these noble and intelligent young men to return to their homes, in as good physical shape as when they left. I have not much news to write this time, so will close with best wishes and success to every body in old Kentucky. Would like to hear from somebody that has lots of good news to write.

Yours Sincerely,
ARLIS W. MADDON.

FROM FRANCE.

August 20, 1918.

Miss Ida Porter,
Echols, Ky.

My Dearest Sister:

Received your letter of July 29th, a few days ago and of course you know I was very glad indeed to hear from you for a letter from home and especially those that are nearest and dearest to you is like a message from heaven to the boys who have sacrificed so much and given up everything to cross the little pond to fight for the dear old U. S. A.

France is a very beautiful country and has some very beautiful women as well, and as for Parley Vons France, well I am doing well enough to get by. I have visited several large cities since my arrival over here of which Bordeaux, the second largest city in France is one of them where I saw a great many things of interest. As a cook you may know that I do not have much time from holding beans to write very often and as much as I would like to but nevertheless I think of you often and want you to continue to write every chance you get.

I am very glad to know that Willie enlisted in the Navy instead of being a slacker and waiting until he would have to be drafted as it is going to take a multitude of men to win this war. Are any of the Brown boys over here and if so do you know their addresses as I would like to write to them. I am well and in the best of health and hope that in a very short time we will have the hated Hun defeated which no doubt we will. Write soon, with lots of love from your brother.

THE NEW U. S. A.

If an American arrived in the United States about now from somewhere, say, in the Arctic circle where they haven't heard about the war, he would undoubtedly open his mouth and say something about us follows: "It looks kind of familiar. They speak the same language. But this isn't the United States. The captain of the ship made some mistake." Assuming, even that one of us with a service stripe or two arrived back in the United States (yes, we are awake), we would get something of a jolt. The United States has changed a lot in the last year, more, probably, than it has ever changed in any decade of its existence.

The Government is running the railroads, the telegraph lines, the ships, and controlling dozens of other lesser industries; the production of automobiles, pianos and many other things has been reduced to make munitions; every man between 18 and 45 is engaged in some productive occupation termed "useful"; they are eating war bread and can't buy a 50 pound sack of flour without buying also 50 pounds of flour substitutes; they are collecting income tax on salaries that 90 per cent of us, probably, used to draw; there are no hoboes; manual labor has become dignified and patriotic, and—almost one and a half per cent of the most

In the train of constipation follows a multitude of diseases. Thus it often happens that a course of the great VIN HEPATICA treatment removes not only the constipated condition but other painful ailments which result therefrom.

L. F. Sweeney, of Route No. 1, West Nashville, Tenn., the well-known Nashville traveling salesman, writes: "There have been times when I thought I would simply have to give up my work on the road. No one knows how much I suffered from poor and irregular meals and broken rest. I was continually constipated, and my whole digestive system was upset. But the tide has turned for me now, and I am on the road to complete recovery. And I owe it to Vin Hepatica—nothing else. I now go to bed and sleep as soundly as a baby all night, and wake up feeling refreshed and go about my work with my oldtime energy."

You can get this wonderful treatment at this designated Vin Hepatica store.

PLACED IN CLASS ONE.

Columbus, Ind.—Following protests concerning the classification in the draft given George Wether Dougherty, a wealthy land owner of Bartholomew county, he has been transferred from class 4 to class 1. It became known here today. The transfer was made on order of the district appeal board. The protest against Dougherty being permitted to remain in Class 4 followed his driving his automobile on Sunday.

WHAT CATARRH IS

Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors only irritate and do little if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the oil-food in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building tonic, free from any harmful drugs. It is helping thousands. Try it.

The sweetest word of tongue of pen, it's sounding o'er and o'er again more sweet each day to draft-agents—"Exemption!"

It's the little things of life that count. It takes little drops to make up the mighty ocean, and little bonds to buy the mighty implements of war.

Kentucky is losing her ancient trade-marks. Fast horses are becoming scarce as the demand for cavalry horses increases; good whiskey is a thing of the past, or soon will be; but the pretty women—bless 'em!—still are here, and will be till the Judgment morn.

Newsprint has taken another jump, and the consequence will be more expense on the publishers of newspapers. This will increase The Herald's running expenses and it will be necessary for us to have all back subscriptions or cut the delinquent off of our list, after November, 1. No paper is allowed to carry a subscriber more than three months in arrears. So if you want The Herald longer, pay up.

This is a time of meditation and of prayer. If ever our people should be in a reverent attitude when frivolities and shams should be cast aside, it is now. This is no day for frolic and fun, no time for the trivial things that used to be our soul's delight. Rather, we should take a more earnest view of things and pay the greatest heed to the mighty questions that lie before us, as we launch out into the future's uncharted sea.

When Napoleon stood beside the pyramids of Egypt he inspired his troops to battle with these words, "Soldiers of France, the centuries look down upon you!" Today the American people, whose freedom has been purchased with the blood of countless heroes, may truly say, the centuries are looking down upon them. Shall we forfeit the liberty they have bequeathed to us? Shall we make it null and void, and brand ourselves as a nation of money-grabbing profiteers? Let's send back a thunderous "No" in the over subscription of the Fourth Liberty Loan.

Many and noble are the deeds performed by the Red Cross Civilian Relief. Only recently there came under our notice a case that is a fitting example of the great hand of mercy this institution stretches forth. In Ohio County there is a mother and four children—live in the beginning but one has died since the father went to camp. The husband convalesces in a camp hospital after a painful operation. He was drafted several months ago and sent from a local board in Missouri, doubtless through some technical misunderstanding, leaving his wife and children without visible support. To this date the family has received no government compensation, in allotments or allowances. Had it not been for the Civilian Relief Committee, acting through its local chairman, Mr. E. G. Barrass, the family would have been in great want and suffering. But they have been supplied with food and raiment while the soldier-husband is away. Such cases as these make us a thousand times more thankful for the Civilian Relief.

A short time ago the seven hundred survivors of the famous British army that held the Germans in check for thirty days, during the beginning of the war while France called together her army, met in a great hall in London and listened to a ringing speech by the Premier. These men were christened the "Old Contemptibles," because the Kaiser sneeringly called them "England's contemptible little army." Some were blind, others minus limbs, and all crippled in some way, yet when the question was put to them about the issues of the war, they cried in unison, "Carry on!" What a lesson to us who are yet young in the struggle when these grizzled old veterans express such unshaken confidence.

Through the valley of Sharon, where grow the famous roses, around the crags that tower over Moab, the British army marches in victorious pursuit of the fleeing Turk. For the first time since the first crusades the Holy Land is again the scene of strife. Jerusalem, the Holy City, fell into Christian hands last year. Jericho, of Biblical fame, is a military base. Damascus, where Paul and Ananias had their famous meeting, has come into the hands of the English, and Nazareth, home of the Redeemer, has become again a city of the cross. These spots so sacred to the Christian heart, famed in lore and story, will never again come under the domination of the unapenakable Ottoman.

TEN SHIPS LOADED WITH GASOLINE

Saved Through Observing Sunday Auto Order, Sail For France To Succor Soldiers.

New York.—Since the first "gasless Sunday" ten cargo boats, carrying 500,000 barrels of gasoline, which otherwise could not have been shipped, have been sent to France from the United States, declared Mark Rosina, Director of the Oil Division of the United States Fuel Administration, in an address the other day before hundreds of manufacturers and engineers pledged to conserve coal and fuel oil to help win the war.

After stating that "not less than 25,000,000 barrels of crude oil more than the United States consumed last year must be produced this year, a total of 365,000,000 barrels, or approximately 70 per cent of the world's output," Mr. Rosina said:

"Every new destroyer will add to this amount; every airplane will use 20 gallons of gasoline an hour; every tank, motor truck and ambulance must have the products of petroleum and you must help in making these products.

RAPID PROGRESS MADE BY ALLIED FORCES IN RUSSIA

American, British, Russian and French troops to-day occupy villages on both banks of the Dvina River to a point 125 miles north of Kotlas, in the Government of Vologda. They have advanced seventy-five miles in the last two weeks and they now are about 375 miles southeast of Archangel. The river is blocked farther south by Bolshevik mines and charges which have been sunk in the channel.

Up the Vaga River, however, progress is unobstructed and Americans are among the forces occupying the important town of Shenkursk.

The aurora borealis is already blazing in the northern sky.

In their advance up the Dvina, the land forces have met with virtually no resistance since September 21, when the Americans were subjected to heavy machine gun fire for five hours at Solusko.

Notwithstanding losses, they held their unsheltered positions until the river fleet came to their aid. The Americans then captured the town.

Since then it has been a case of finding the Bolsheviks, who are believed to be somewhere above the closed channel of the Dvina. The thin line of American troops is holding many villages amid the woods and muddy rye fields which thickly cover the Dvina region.

North of Beresneskaya, which is near the confluence of the Dvina and Vaga Rivers, villages had not been molested by the Bolsheviks in their flight from Archangel. They fled so fast that they did not stop anywhere until the Moscow authorities halted them at Beresneskaya with an imperative demand for them to make a stand. Villages south of that point suffered heavily. Executions and depredations were committed there and when the Allies arrived they were given a hearty welcome.

The Bolsheviks took from Archangel the best, fast Mississippi River type of passenger boat, leaving the Allies an odd collection of craft which is doing splendid service against the faster vessels in command of the enemy.

WAR MOTHER WEAVES RUG NOW ON EXHIBITION.

Ekron Woman's Gift To Red Cross To Be Sold By Courier-Journal.

Down at Ekron, Ky., lives Mrs. Eliza Bratcher. She is a widow and the mother of two sons. When the United States entered the war one of those sons immediately volunteered for service, and is now in France. The other son was inducted into the National Army, and is now in training at Camp Zachary Taylor for duty overseas.

This patriotic woman is perfectly willing to sacrifice her two sons on the altar of war in order that democracy and freedom may prevail. Yet even these great gifts do not quiet the unrest of patriotism that seethes within her breast. She craves to give even more to the cause.

So with deft fingers this proud mother of two soldier lads weaves upon an old-fashioned loom a beautiful rug. She donated the rug to the Ekron Red Cross Committee to be disposed of in the manner that would bring the greatest money returns for the Red Cross. Nine patriotic men of Ekron secured the rug at the Red Cross auction.

The names of these men are A. E. Guedry, R. P. Hagan, William W. Frymire, R. A. Ensor, O. C. Rice, Blant Shacklette, Sr., Tom McCoy, Blant Shacklette, Jr., and Dudley C. Jones. Acting through a committee of themselves the rug has been sent to The Courier-Journal, together with its interesting history, with the request that it be disposed of in Louisville at the highest bidder. Every cent of money received for this rug by The Courier-Journal goes to the funds of the American Red Cross.

The Courier-Journal proposes to act as the silent auctioneer of the rug and will in that capacity accept sealed bids up to October 1 from all individuals, clubs, societies and other organizations, here and elsewhere. On October 1 the bids will be opened, and the rug delivered to the highest bidder. The rug will be on display in the window of W. K. Stewart Company, booksellers, on Fourth street, between and Walnut, during the week.

Remember, you are not helping an individual. You are helping an organization that may be the means of saving the life of your own son on the battle fields of France.

Now then, good citizens and Americans who will be the first to bid? —Louisville Courier-Journal.

THE KAISER AND THE DEVIL.

By J. M. Johnson.

Kaiser: Hello, my dear old devil, I am feeling pretty tough; I have just arrived from Berlin, where the Yanks handled me rough.

Devil: Hello, dear old Kaiser Bill! What can I do for you? The Yanks have certainly got you Bill, just what I said they'd do. You had better taken my advice and let the Yanks alone; Now you would be in Berlin, sitting on your throne. I have a nice room for you in the seath side of hell, where it is good and hot, Bill, when the fires begin to swell.

Kaiser: My dear old devil Satan, I am satisfied to be down here in your home where the Yanks can't bother me. Dear Satan, please don't let them in, is my request to say. I've come down here to make my home—please keep the Yanks away.

Devil: My dear old Kaiser Wilhelm, your request I'd like to grant, but as to keeping Yanks out, that you know—I can't. They'd knock me down and crowd me out and shoot up all my head, they'd rip and rear, pitch and tear and sing my little knell!

Kaiser: My dear old devil Satan, I don't know what to do, if those damned in-

No Stronger Evidence Can Be Had in Hartford.

Look well to their record. What they have done many times in years gone by is the best guarantee of future results. Anyone with a bad back; any reader suffering from urinary troubles, from kidney ills, should find comforting words in the following statement.

S. L. King, proprietor harness and grocery store, Main St., Hartford, says: "I consider Doan's Kidney Pills a good medicine for kidney trouble for they have done me a great deal of good whenever I have had occasion to use them. Several times I have suffered from pains that I knew were caused from weak kidneys. At these times I have got Doan's Kidney Pills and have used them as directed. They have never failed to cure the attack." (Statement given February 23, 1912.)

On November 15, 1916, Mr. King said: "I still have an excellent opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills and don't mind re-endorsing them. I use this medicine occasionally and always have excellent results."

Devil: I don't know what to tell you, Bill. I know the Yanks too well. Whenever they take a notion they will go through any hell.

Kaiser: Dear old devil Satan, aren't your walls good and strong? You could hide me somewhere in the wall, it wouldn't take you long.

Devil: But, my Kaiser Wilhelm, I know it cannot be; the Yankee boys would smell you, Bill, then 'twould be all up with me. If the Yankees come down her, Bill,—to you I hate to tell—the only thing that I can do is throw you out of hell!

ONCE A SAILOR, ALWAYS A SAILOR, SAYS BINGLE.

Once a sailor, always a sailor—that's the motto of "Fearless Fred" Bingle of Providence, R. I., who has just joined the United States Shipping Board Recruiting Service after being torpedoed four times, mined and shipwrecked within 15 months.

"There is nothing in the world that has the appeal of the sea," said Bingle to a Merchant Mariner reporter after he had been assigned to the steward's department of the Meade.

Young Bingle has been across the Atlantic 12 times. His most thrilling experience came when he was a member of the crew of the troopship Tuscania when she was torpedoed off the Irish coast.

"As tragic as the Tuscania sinking was, I wouldn't have missed it for the world," said Bingle. "I was in a hospital in Queenstown two months following that experience and the thoughts of it made my blood boil so much that I rejoined the merchant fleet immediately upon recovery."

Bingle joined the Shipping Board service because he found recently, after his twelfth trip over, that he could get a better berth on an American ship than he had if he was a Shipping Board graduate. He lost no time in signing up and today he is eager to get back in the overseas service. He already has been a sailor for six years.

"I have been torpedoed under all kinds of conditions," said Bingle, "and I know that there's nothing to fear. After one trip a fellow gets accustomed to the thrills and in a short time he complains if he doesn't get them."

Financially, also, the life of a sailor or appeals to this intrepid American youth, who says that he has been able to "salt down" quite a bit since the bonus system for overseas service went into effect.—Merchant Mariner.

WHEN JACK COMES HOME.

One of the first questions of the newly accepted apprentice on a Merchant Marine training ship is, "Can I get leave to go home and see my folks?"

It is barely possible that the embryo sailor-lad is not so anxious to see his folks as he is to have his folks see him. This is quite fitting in the circumstances. He has something to show them, to tell them, that is worth while.

He has arrived as a patriotic citizen performing his duty to his country. He has the uniform of the Merchant Marine training service to show for it. He has struck his gait in life and he wants his folks and his friends, and it is to be hoped, some soft-eyed best girl, to know all about it. He is proud of his job, and he wishes them all to be proud of him, and with him.

For this reason the Recruiting Service, which has charge of the training of youths for the merchant fleets, encourages the tendency of the apprentices on its training ships to think of the people at home. It endeavors to give the apprentices reasonable furloughs for the purpose of visiting their homes. It puts the young man on his honor to come back on time, knowing that his word is enough to insure his return. If by mischance he fails to come back on time, the Recruiting Service officials know that he suffers in his mind enough to purge his soul of his error. The returned prodigal who has overstayed his leave is often a better man for his misstep.

There is something good for all concerned in the sailor, even though a novice, going home to say farewell before beginning his voyage to foreign lands. Sentiment clings to the voyage by sea. He smells of the spice of coral isles. There is a suggestion of pieces of eight in the silver he chinks in the pockets of his blue trousers. The winds of the tropics have blown him thither, we are fair to believe, though we may have knowledge of the prosaic fact that the steam engine is the agency that brought him home.

The apprentice on his first furlough is falling unconsciously into the ways of the sailor man from time immemorial. The visit home is always precious. The sailor dreams of it through his voyage. Merchant Marine.

NAVY WILL DRAW 20,000 MEN FROM DRAFT MONTHLY.

Washington, September 25.—The program under which the navy and the Marine Corps will secure the men hereafter needed was announced here by Secretary Daniels after conferences with representatives of his department, the Marine Corps and the Provost Marshal General's office. The navy is to have an average of 15,000 men monthly, while the Marine Corps will get 5,000 monthly for four months and 1,500 each month thereafter.

Of the navy's allotment of 15,000 it may enlist or enroll men who have special qualifications for certain navy work, but the remainder will come from "the run of the draft," navy officials cutting out skilled men to meet as far as possible the special needs of the service.

Men who now hold or may hereafter be given deferred classification, on account of dependency, will be permitted to enlist in the navy, as the higher pay given is expected to do away with the possibility of hardships to the dependents.

Those who have had previous service in the navy also will be permitted to re-enlist. In no case, however, not even from the draft, will the navy accept men who cannot read, write and speak the English language, nor will it accept men not citizens of the United States or conscientious objectors.

Much the same system will be followed in enlisting men both in the navy and Marine Corps. Naval recruiting stations will be known as "mobilization centers," each having a definite territory to serve and they will be established at central points. Marine Corps recruiting offices also will be kept open.

Men desiring to enter either the navy or marine corps will be required to make applications at the proper recruiting office. When men are accepted for the navy the mobilization officers will apply for them through their draft boards, but in the case of men qualified to enter the marine corps the recruiting officer will send a request to the Provost Marshal General for their enrollment, the Provost Marshal General then will order the local boards having jurisdiction to enroll them.

Naval mobilization points were announced by Secretary Daniels as follows:

Boston—Mobilization point for Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut.

New York City—For New York and New Jersey.

Philadelphia—For Delaware and Pennsylvania.

Washington, D. C.—For District of Columbia and Maryland.

Norfolk—For Georgia, Alabama and Florida.

New Orleans—For Louisiana and Mississippi.

Oklahoma City—For Oklahoma, New Mexico and Texas.

Chicago—For Michigan, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska and Wisconsin.

Minneapolis—For Minnesota, South Dakota and North Dakota.

Cincinnati—For Ohio, Indiana, Tennessee and Kentucky.

St. Louis—For Arkansas, Missouri and Kansas.

San Francisco—For California, Nevada and Arizona.

Seattle—For Idaho, Oregon, Montana and Washington.

Salt Lake City—For Colorado, Wyoming and Utah.

The navy mobilization inspectors will be located as follows:

Eastern Division—New York.

Southern Division—New Orleans.

Central Division—Chicago.

Western Division—San Francisco.

MODERN BAYARD WITHOUT FEAR AND REPROACH.

In the shifting panorama of the war General Sir Edmund H. H. Allenby now holds the center of the stage, and his stupendous feat in the past week adds new glory to British arms. From the Adriatic to the Aegean Sea the unspeakable Turk and the despicable Hun fled before his victorious troops in panic and confusion. More than 40,000 Turks surrendered in trembling fear, and countless thousands fell to feed the jackal and the buzzard. Thousands of tons of supplies and ammunition, hundreds of guns have fallen into the hands of the victors, and the birthplace of Jesus, after four centuries, is once more in Christian hands.

Allenby the crusader, the Bayard sans peur et sans reproche, is the man of the hour. Opposed by the obstacles of nature, tropic skies and desert wastes, a foe ruthless and desperate, fighting for every inch of ground, familiar with the topography of the territory, he moved steadily forward to the goal he finally reached in triumph. Almost a year ago Allenby inaugurated his campaign, and the drive on Jerusalem began when Gaza fell. It

A writer at the time said: "During the next few days lame and exhausted Turks, wounded and straggling soldiers whom the German motor lorry drivers refused to take up, and Turkish officers shaken into truthfulness by the extent of their defeat, brought news of their defeat into Jerusalem. Munitions were sent to Shechem or east to Jericho, that the army was a rabble and the retreat a stampede. The populace was fleeing. Owners of the few carriages left obtained $50 for a single seat from fugitives to Shechem. The commandos hastened to Jerusalem. Enver Pasha hurried from imperial headquarters, and Falkenhayn came from Aleppo to reorganize the beaten army. Meanwhile, British troops had pushed through the passes of the highlands of Judea. They fought their way to the valley of the Sorek, and henceforth the sound of battle grew louder day by day. On December 6 and 7 fighting on the hills west of Jerusalem began, and the rapid advance of the British from Hebron sealed the doom of the enemy." The surrender of the city December 9 lacked the spectacular incidents usual to such epochal affairs. The Governor was the last civil officer to depart from the city, and he left in a cart belonging to Mr. Vester, an American resident. He entrusted the Mayor with his letter of surrender, and as the sun rose that official set forth to deliver it to the British commander, accompanied by a few frightened policemen holding two tremulous white flags. Three weeks later the enemy attempted to retake the city he had lost. Allenby tried to avoid spilling blood within the sanctuary of three faiths, but as the pressure grew the lion leaped again and tore the foe to shreds.

Allenby, the victor, was born April 32, 1861. His military career began with the Inniskillen dragoons in Bechuanaland, and he participated in the Zululand expeditions in 1884-85. Subsequently he commanded the Fifth Royal Irish Lancers from 1902 to 1905, and was transferred to the Fourth Cavalry Brigade 1910. He held a brief command on the Western front, where he had no opportunity to show his mettle or to distinguish himself. He is a Knight Commander of the Bath and Grand Officer of the Legion of Honor of France. Succeeding Sir Archibald Murray, he became Commander in Chief of the Egyptian forces in 1917. Mr. Bonar Law, in announcing Allenby's victory and the surrender of Jerusalem in the House of Commons, and after paying an eloquent tribute to the intrepid commander, said that the capture had been in some degree delayed in consequence of the great care which had been taken to avoid damage to sacred places in and around the city. What a contrast to the sack and devastation of Rheims and Louvain by the sacrilegious Hun!

AMERICANS RESISTLESS.

With The American Armies In France.—Another brilliant achievement has been accomplished by American armies in a wide Franco-American offensive on the Champagne front. The Americans struck on a front of 32 kilometers (20 miles) northwest of Verdun, while the French blow fell farther west.

Five thousand prisoners taken by the Americans already have been counted. Many towns which long had been under the domination of the Hun have been captured.

Gen. Pershing's strategy took the Boche completely by surprise and he was astonished at the resistless strength of the American advance.

Our troops went over the top at daybreak today. I was able to see the beginning of the operation and talked with many of our fighting men while the barrage preparatory to the infantry attack was on and the sky was painted with brilliant streaks of flame from our guns.

At the word our fighting men went over the top like racing colts at the starter's signal to go. They were assisted by tanks, whose operators shouted wonderful courage and which aided our men materially.

Our advance was so resistless that everything was swept before it, and the Boches were forced to abandon towns and villages which the German high command had ordered them to hold, regardless of what the cost might be in human life.

Some of the best and most tried forces in the German armies were in the line of our attack, but our men swept them aside and permitted no obstacles to stand between them and their objectives. The very fury of our men's sweep equaled anything in the war.

As I write this the Germans are striving desperately to prepare new defenses to try to hold up our advance at the same time are endeavoring to stiffen their defense.

The Americans, however, easily are overcoming the enemy's resisted in a rout, as in this last drive, and at the same time are enfold us up are falling.

Again by their splendid success our men are demonstrating their mettle.

COAL DRIVE LAUNCHED BY GARFIELD.

Washington.—To avert a coal famine this winter and also to meet all the needs of the war program, Fuel Administrator Garfield has launched a drive for coal production, which is to continue until April 1.

In a formal proclamation to operators and miners alike the Fuel Administrator calls upon all to enlist in a detailed program to produce 12,234,000 tons of bituminous coal and 2,030,000 tons of anthracite every week. This tonnage, he promises, will give the country all the coal needed this winter. It represents a weekly increase of 1,731,000 tons of bituminous and 121,000 tons of anthracite over the weekly production averages of the corresponding period of a year ago.

The increase in bituminous production called for is approximately 16 1/2 per cent, and in anthracite 6 1/3 per cent. It will be seen that the more urgent demand is for the speeding up of bituminous production.

Garfield's call was transmitted to every district production manager, who, in consultation with their Mine Production Committees, will apportion a weekly quota for each mine. Carrying the quota idea to its logical conclusion, each miner will be asked to assume personal responsibility for a weekly coal production representing his equitable proportion of the mine's allotment.

Dr. Garfield call attention to the fact that the coal production of the last three months has far exceeded earlier expectations, despite the labor shortage created by other war activities.
